About Preponn

Our mission is to provide each one of you the best that education can offer, the best that you deserve. We do this because we believe in your dreams and we know that together, we can achieve them all- Such is our investment into your career! We focus on the nuances of both test preparation and admission counseling services, while maintaining a personalized approach. We understand that each student is different. Consequently, we are proud developers of an exclusive pedagogy that is you-centric. Our well-researched pedagogy, inspired by the best-practices from the contemporary test-prep community, is equipped to cater to the challenges of diversity. We care that you understand the concepts, before we empower you with the required tools to simplify the test, focussed on both accuracy and pacing. Our experienced mentors facilitate Preponn- exclusive pedagogies for every question-type in the tests opted by you. Our expert admission counselors help in both the effective selection of universities and application processes to the same. With our expertise and diverse collective experiences, we take responsibility for each of the students who trust us. That is why we boast of a high acceptance rate.

Vision & Mission

Being a work-in-progress, excellence is what we are after. Not only do we help focus on aptitude tests, but we also help shape aptitude. Our passion enables us to continue our research to constantly evolve by integrating industry-insights, and be committed to excellence, ensuring that not a single stone is left unturned in your quest for the perfect higher education. Having said that, we believe that every dream counts. Therefore, we are developing scholarships for marginalized students.

The CollegeBoard SAT

About SAT

We take our PSAT and SAT students seriously. This is because we understand just how important this first step, in your life, happens to be. Even when we are mentoring our young students, sometimes aged as young as 11-year-old, we ensure that we help shape a structured mindset that can be easily receptive to the structure of these tests.

The English section of the SAT consists of the Evidence-based Reading and Writing sections. Acing the test with a perfect score is completely up our alley, should we only work together. The SAT Reading is quite different from that of your English Class. Sometimes, you tend to believe that this section is subjective, which couldn't be farther from the truth. We look at reading in a holistic manner so you can concentrate on the quickest ways of reaching the credited responses. We do this by ensuring that you have access to the most effective and personalized tools, that would help you deliver your best. To begin with, this section would present you with five passages, covering topics ranging from US/World Literature, History/Social Studies, to Science. Although, nothing matters on The Sat except what's actually written in the passage, you could still choose to use your Personal Order of Difficulty (POOD) to determine which topics you are most comfortable with, and would thus tackle first, therefore dispelling the nervousness, while really enjoying the process. We cannot emphasize on the importance of having fun with the test! We strongly advise reading for fun! Get hold of a book and read your way into the perfect score! For everything else, our thorough research into the best-practices of The SAT world helps us help you with the most impactful reading methodologies.

Now, The Writing section really has two types of questions: Proof-reader and Editor. An intelligent question to ask would be exactly how much grammar and vocabulary you need on this test. We are here to hand-hold you through the basics of the concepts that are tested. With your ongoing school-curriculum and activities, it is futile to engage with grammar concepts that are not even tested or have recently become obsolete, because The SAT just like everything else in the world, is constantly evolving. This can be comprehended by studying the question papers, solving which is so important! The last sentence is a good example of a sentence testing Subject-Verb-Agreement on the test. Again, actively reading the questions is key in this section. We mentor you to really look for what's changing in the answer choices, besides developing an instinct for the most consistent, precise and concise responses. It all boils down to the process of elimination.

A maximum point of 40 could be earned in each of these sections to be able to achieve the dream score of 800 in the English test. When we promised that it is possible to beat the SAT, if we only work together, we meant trusting us and helping us trust you, in return, Remember, we are here for all the re-takers, as well. Additionally, we are here for all the test takers who seem to be stuck at a 1200 or even a 1400. We only request you not to overwhelm yourself with all the too-good-to-be-true strategies inundating the internet. We have got you covered!

Digvijay Singh

With an experience of 8 years, I continue to feel motivated, solution-oriented and responsible towards my mentees, who over the years have ranged across demographics; For example: IIT Roor-kee, DIT University, UPES university, Welham Girls/Boys, KASIGA to name a few, as well as online (around the globe, really). Along with my students, I have explored spaces like: The GMAT, GRE, ACT, SAT, SAT Subject Tests, IB HL/SL, AP CALCULUS, Math Olympiad (PRMO, IMO, AMC), besides Math for several international curriculum and Indian test prep courses. Having had a wide range of experience, I have developed a pedagogy, integrating insights derived from the best practices of the Mathematics test-prep community, through my extensive research and passion to constantly up-level both my and my student's skill-sets. I am heavily invested into the careers of all my mentees and continue to feel inspired by them.

Ronak Kanodia

“ It is natural to be skeptical about whether a tutor will really help you, especially in subject such as math, which seem to be something solely derived from pure logic. As a senior hoping to take my math score to the next level, this was something that I struggled with, yet through the advice of a few of my friends, I discovered Digvijay Sir / Preponn. Through their simple yet effective style of teaching, they allowed me to grow my skills in the realm of math. The entire structure of the course was personalized for me, and this allowed me to move at a pace perfect for me. Through the classes here, I felt confident enough to retake the SAT and ended up scoring a perfect score in math for the composite total of 1590!

Thanks,

Ronak ”

Aryan Gupta

“ I highly recommend PREPONN for their content based teaching skills and politeness. I took online classes for SAT Math where I got 800 eventually and also took classes for Math subject test where I scored 780. I thank Digvijay sir for all his efforts by making my concepts strong and keeping me focused on my goal.
